

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM SPECIALIST Position Posting

The Collaborative for Teaching and Learning (CTL), a non-profit Louisville-based education agency, is seeking candidates for an Educational Programs Specialist position with a focus on literacy. The successful candidate must have:

- Kentucky Teacher's License and a Master's degree; Rank 1 certification preferred. Doctorate degree and/or teacher leadership or administrative experience highly desired.
- Certification in middle/high school and/or experience with project-based learning desired.
- Experience creating high quality, student-centered teaching and learning environments in both classroom and professional development settings.
- Knowledge of Kentucky Academic Standards and related instructional shifts.
- Knowledge of Common Core's Literacy Anchor Standards and creating literacy rich experiences with students.
- Demonstrated leadership working with educators to improve classroom practice.
- Applied understanding of current educational research about best practices and comprehensive literacy instruction.
- Excellent written and oral communication skills.
- Commitment to collaboration and teamwork in planning and development.
- Personal commitment to self-reflective practice and on-going professional development.

Candidates with leadership experience at the team, departmental, building, district or state level are strongly encouraged to apply. Statewide travel will be required.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, resume or vita, two letters of reference, and a list of at least three additional references to:
